area.

Mr. McCrae discussed the seed drill survey and pointed out that there is still too large a percentage of seed going through tanning mills and cleaning plants that was unfit for seed. He pointed out various practices that the Association might carry on and urged he co-operatives to get behind the practices another year.

Mr. Norm Thomas certainly gave the group a great deal to think about in his presentation of facts regarding soil building programmes and the economy of production. He also discussed the place of the farm pond in present day farming and the uses of the various grasses in pasture mixtures.

Canada Packers Limited of Wiarton

Canada Packers Limited of Wiarton, Ontario, were winners of the Grand Championship Lawrason Shield in the Butter Quality Improvement Competitions sponsored by the Ontario Creamery Association. This was announced by an official of the Dairy Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture who supervise the competition. Runner-up in this combined competition covering quality, yeast and mould, and workmanship was the Canada Packers plant at Fort Frances.

In the Workmanship Competition the Grand Championshp Walker-Wallace Trophy went to Parkview Creamery at St. Mary's with the Canada Packers Wiarton plant runner-up.

In the Yeast and Mould Competition the Canada Packers Wiarton plant runner-up.

In the Yeast and Mould Competition the Canada Packers Fort Frances entry took the Championship and received the Canadian Vegetable Parchment Trophy. Again the Canada Packers Wiarton entry was runner-up.

However, when it came to the Butter Quality Competition the Roland Johnston Memorial Trophy for the Grand Championship was won by Villa Nova Milk Froducts Co-operative at Wisferford, who manufactured over 36,000 pounds of butter, 98 score or higher. Runners-up were Canada Packers Limited, Shelburne, Campbell's Dairy Products, Peterboro and Kemptville Creamerles, Kemptville. All these plants had 100% 1st grade butter but the quantity manufactured was smaller than that of the champion.

And The Drama of
The Nativity At St. Paul's

Scores of "White Gifts" as well as many cash gifts were received at the "Whit Gift for the King" services at St. Paul's and Carmel Churches last Sunday. At St. Paul's a miniature, snowy glistening church shared with fresh holly (the gift of Mr. Earl Morrow) the Holy Table. The soft strains of "Silent Night" came from this miniature temple while a crystal-like bell swung gently in its tower. At Carmei a beautiful beveiled heavy glass plate to cover the Communion Table was dedicated.

Mrs. C. E. Macklin and Mrs. Ivah Thain sang a "Christmas Lullaby" duet at St. Paul's with sincerity and appeal. The Senior Choir sang "Christians Awake," and the Royal Choir, the "Huron Christmas Carol," with Robert Bird sweetly singing the refrain.

The drama of the Nativity was interpreted to large congregation with Mm. Wilkins ably taking the narrator's part. His timing was good and his clear diction a delight. The Christmas Angels, Mrs. R. A. Patterson, who addressed the Shepherds and Mrs. W. T. Elliott, who accompanied her, were superb.

The Wisemen, Messrs. K. Belcour, W. T. Elliott and Harold Wells, in varied and princely dress, were both kingly and graceful, while the Shepherds Jack Bush, Bert Jones and Roy Tucker, equpped with "crooks" and contrasting costumes, were focal centres of interest.

The very able representation of Mary was the difficult role of Mrs. Mayhew, with her baby, Andrew Doug-Wright and Ruth Brady.

A Distribution Problem
C. N. Heath, secretary manager of the Ontario Cheese Producers', stressed that it would take very little to increase the Canadian consumption of cheese to consume nearly all that was manufatured. He thought the United States market could be cultivated and said the cehese problem looked like a problem of distribution.

He pointed out that the cheese producer received only about 35 cents of the consumer's dollar. In other branches of the agricultural industry the amount received by the consumer was greater. He said that more management was needed in the industry.

"Many manufacturing firms and merchants are making so much money today that they do not know what to do with their profits," he said. "Farmers cannot do that. The only avenue left for farmers to sell their cattle for beef or as springers."

He declared that requisitioning of cheese was most damaging to the home market. As a result properly aged cheese was almost impossible to procure. Yet processed cheese was available.

He was critical of the powinger.

Follow These Rules -FOR SAFE WINTER DRIVING

Slippery road surfaces, unfavourable weather conditions, and early darkness, combine with thoughtless driving to make the late Fall and Winter months the most dangerous period of the year.

For your own safety and the safety of other road userspedestrians and motorists—observe the following sug-

- 1. On wet, snowy or icy road surfaces drive at reduced speed.
- 2. When stopping, apply brakes lightly and intermittently. Jamming on the brakes may bring about a skid.
- 3. Keep windshield and windows free of snow and ice outside, and fog and frost

DON'T HAVE A SINGLE TRACK MIND ON A DOUBLE TRACK RAILROAD!

Many railway crossings have more than one track, which multiplies the hazard to the motorist and makes the need for caution doubly great. The drawing above emphasizes one of the prime dangers of the multiple-track crossing — the train on the farther track obscured by the train moving in the opposite direction on the near track. This motorists would have saved himself trouble if he had waited a second or two to see if the farther track was clear before proceeding.

H. L. HUNT,

Remembering the tremendous muster of 48th Higlanders veterans for the regiment's reunion in 1928 (then characterized as the greatest single-unit gathering ever held in the British Commonwealth), committees of officers and men under Brig. E. W. Haldenby, M.C., are already at work on plans for the Highlanders' 60th Birthday éelebration to be held in Toronto next May.

The three-day reunion will start on May 25th, thus leaving the holiday, May 24th, open for men to travel to Toronto. Such numbers are expected that special railway transportation is being arranged; it is believed the reunion spirit has again mounted among Canada's war veterans as it did in 1928, and when the great Canadain Corps reunions were held between wars.

Registrations are already being tak

BREEDING POULTRY ON THE

BREEDING POULTRY ON THE CLOSED FLOCK PRINCIPLE

Maintaining poultry flocks on Dominion Experimental Farms serves many useful purposes including that of studying developments over long periods. Breeding of Barred Rocks has been carried on at the Station at Harrow, Ontario, for twenty years, and as new blood was occasionally used during the first ten years and none during the second ten, the results during the two decades lend themselves to comparison.

One noticeable development during closed flock breeding was the gradual trend toward uniformity in annual egg. Yields. During the early years when other stock was brought in, average egg predix varied as much as 50 eggs per bird from one year to another. The greatest range from 1941 to 1950 was 24 eggs, and the lowest yield in that period was during 1941. By 1946 average egg production had reached the 246 mark and from that year on there was a steady increase of one or two eggs each year until in 1950 an average production of 253 eggs was recorded. These are survivor averages; when using the more critical henhouses basis of calculation the mean production each year was about 20 eggs below the figures given.

Mortality figures under closed flock conditions, like those of egg yields, settled down to an absence of externess as time elapsed. After a fairly high rate of 23 per cent in 1941 the average mortality for the following nine years was 7 per cent.

In actual breeding practice, emphasis was placed on selection by family performance rather than on individual prominence, and the chief endeavour in mating was to hold distance of relationship between individuals. Males and production and production as breeders as
